

Qualified Plan Review

for...

Defined Contribution plans and

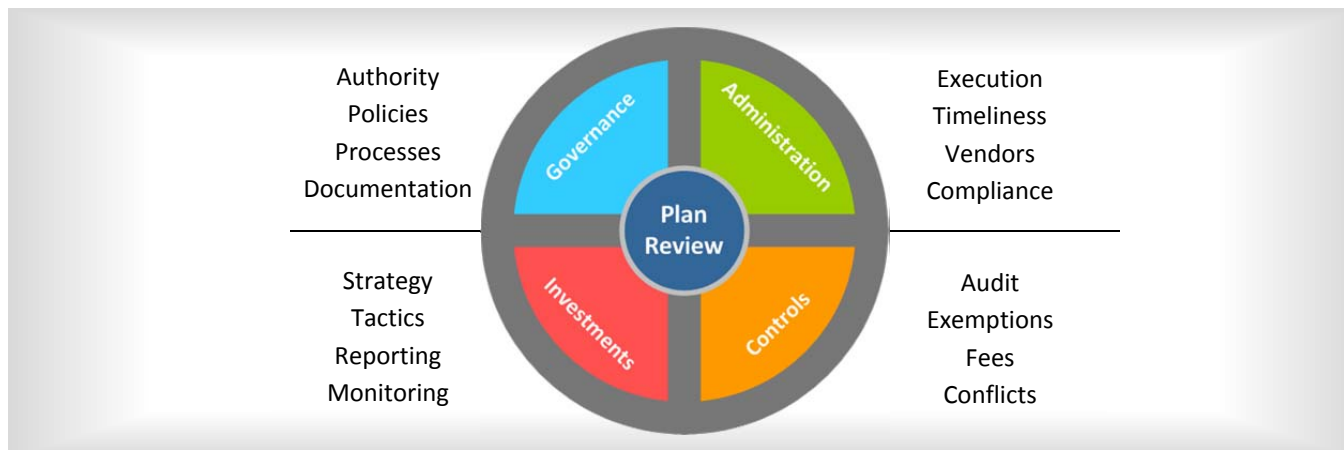

Defined Benefit plans

A comprehensive plan review by sponsors of retirement programs qualified under federal pension law is a legal necessity. Yet executives that oversee the plans face challenges in satisfying the plan review requirement.

- Many executives are simply unaware of their responsibility to perform a qualified plan review.
- Training and experience in performing a comprehensive plan review is hard to find.
- Qualified plan reviews are time consuming and difficult to resource internally.
- The size of a plan does not matter; large and small plans alike face the same need for a plan review.

Roland|Criss' FiduciaryQPR examines every aspect of a retirement plan's operation against a defined standard, and includes all four fiduciary disciplines found in federal pension law.

The QPR Rating™ is an integral part of our plan reviews. It ranks a plan's position on the fiduciary scale and acts as an excellent tool for tracking ongoing improvements.

The FiduciaryQPR solution is flat-fee based and scaled to fit a plan's size and complexity. Compliance with the plan review requirement is now affordable and easy for every retirement plan.

Roland|Criss is the leading provider of an integrated Governance, Risk, and Compliance management solution for the ERISA retirement plan market.
